Graduate Research with the RU

Higher Degree Research (HDR) candidates connected with the RU are eligible to be Associate Members and will be incorporated into all RU activities. The Research Unit's focus offers a variety of supervisory and research activity options to those connected with the RU, supported by seminars, national and international conference activities, symposia and public seminars.

Research support/facilities

The RU in European Philosophy has a strong focus on high quality postgraduate training and supervision and provides excellent development opportunities for future leaders of research. A supportive environment balances one-on-one supervision, activities and resources. Candidates are encouraged to take full advantage of the RU's research community by becoming involved in reading groups, email networks, research seminars, as well as by accessing support aimed at establishing your reputation as a scholar in your field (e.g. conference and publishing support). Candidates can access HDR-designated facilities and research-related funding support.
