*Remember that you'll be allowed to take either SPN 2310 (6 credit points) or SPN 3310 (12 credit points). The information you are providing will help us to select the best unit(s) for you

There is some vital information that you will need to consider when selecting the units in one of the institutions abroad.

1. Choose units in the area of Spanish and Hispano America linguistics, literature, culture and Cinema.
2. Choose units where you will be studying with local students. Reject those units that are taught in English (this is specially the case for Tec de Monterrey).
3. Select units that run over 10 + weeks, have a continuous assessment (at least 5) and most important choose units that interest you.
4. Reject those units where the final mark is the result of only one piece of assessment

In our meeting we will be discussing about the best unit(s) you can take abroad.

Please complete this form and send it to marisa.cordella@arts.monash.edu.au. Attach the outline to every unit you are planning to take overseas. Remember to bring to our meeting a copy of our transcript.
